These things and many more make up Wilson Memorial High School.

A school is many things but each involves learning and growth. Buildings rise and fall, teachers learn and students develop ability to think and to assimilate knowledge as a basis for thought....all these things and many more make up our school—Wilson Memorial High School. We here present for you OUR SCHOOL from many points of view. These are shown in pictures and words through classes, sports, activities, features, literary efforts and art interpretations. Perhaps we have been overly zealous and proud, but we just could not refrain. We are proud to be a part of this school, and as we look at her past with pride and to her future with confidence, we feel loyal and capable hands will always guide her endeavors.

hornet's nest

“Wisdom Is The Principal Thing;

Therefore Get Wisdom:

And Get With All Thy Getting

Get Understanding.”

Proverbs 4:7

Bacon said, “Studies serve for delight, for ornament, and for ability . . . Reading maketh a full man; conference a ready man; and writing an exact man . . . Histories make men wise; poets, witty; the mathematics, subtle; natural philosophy, deep; moral, grave; logic and rhetoric, able to contend.”

As we Seniors leave this school, faith, hope and the spirit of peace are ever in our hearts that we may all be believers and doers in a future unequaled in opportunity, goodness and harmony. To this goal we dedicate our lives and our efforts.

Randy Wiseman, Charles Shaver, Betty Showalter and Edna Coffey. Those all important people on the Hornet's Nest staff who kept things humming to produce this book.

The Administration

MR. HUBERT W. MONGER
Principal

Hubert W. Monger
He serves not self, but all humanity."

Mr. Monger, you have challenged us to seek and grasp difficult subjects that will bring benefits and lasting enjoyment to our lives.

The high standards you have set for yourself and for us have been a worthy challenge to us. You have shown us through understanding and friendship how best to live and serve in this wonderful land of ours.

From those of us who are leaving these halls we say "Adieu" and "Many thanks".

"An inquiring mind built for him
a great future."

Mr. Booker, you have served Wilson with dignity, care and insight and have made our athletic program one of which we can be proud. To learn to lose with dignity when we have done our best is a lesson you have taught us well and one we shall never forget.

Each day you have given unselfishly of your knowledge, time and energy to make our lives worthwhile. "Goodbye and you'll be hearing from us in the future".

MR. A. BROOKS BOOKER
Assistant Principal and Athletic Director

A. Brooks Booker

The 1963-64 Wilson Faculty

MR. PAUL AUSERMAN

Mr. Ausherman, who comes to us from Bridgewater College, lists "The Post" as his home. He is busily engaged in coaching the debaters when he isn't taking surveys in his Social Problems classes.

Mr. Batson has been at Wilson since 1947 and has been teaching Ind. Arts all these years. Right now he is busy studying at UVa. for his MA Degree.

MR. CLAREN H. BATSON

MR. E. R. BERRY

A Lynchburg College graduate, Mr. Berry is teaching World and American History. He is a real tennis player—any of you stars want to challenge him?

MRS. MILDRED S. BLACK

Guidance Coordinator, HORNET'S NEST sponsor and English 12 keep this lady quite busy. During her leisure time you may find her taking graduate courses at Madison.

MRS. ALICE K. BROOKER

Swimming and sewing occupy Mrs. Brooker when she isn't teaching Physical Education and Health to 9th and 10th grade students at WMHS. She is a Madison College graduate.

MR. ANGELO CACCIAPAGLIA

Mr. C., as he is affectionately called, is a native Stauntonian and a UVA graduate. Photography is his hobby but those who have him for Biology think that is his hobby.

MR. C. AL CLEVELAND

Coach Cleveland has had his ups and downs with basketball and baseball teams since he has been at WMHS. He is also head man when it comes to bus transportation; this doesn't leave much time for hunting and fishing which he likes very much.

MR. MARTIN L. CLINE

Mr. Cline has come back home as he graduated from WMHS in 1953. He is a graduate of Bridgewater College and is now doing graduate work at Madison. He says he loves to garden and care for animals when he has the time.

MRS. NANCY COOK

UVA will be conferring an MA on Mrs. Cook this summer. As teacher of the Creative English class and English 10, 11 you would think she would stay busy but she found time to do much of the dramatic coaching this year. Glenville State College claims her as a graduate.

MR. JAMES COOK

Yes, these two Cooks are a husband and wife team. How happy we are to have them at WMHS. Mr. Cook has served as faculty chairman this year and when he isn't pouring science and math into students' heads he is doing further studying or training that monster of a dog, "Storm."

MRS. O. S. CRUTE

This new math is certainly fascinating to Mrs. Crute and she is having a ball teaching it for the first time this year. She is an expert bridge player and has taken up golf so she can challenge her golf-playing husband. Mrs. Crute is 8th grade counselor and a faithful member of the WMHS faculty.

MISS LOUISE DIEHL

Without this vital person the school would not be the same. She holds forth in the office and runs it effectively and efficiently. With all the students, teachers and administrators problems, she never is impatient or unkind. A real gem in a good setting.

The 1963-64 Wilson Faculty

MR. SIDNEY L. DRIVER, JR.

Physics and Chemistry keep Mr. Driver on the move when his '58 Plymouth doesn't. He earned his B.S. from Bridgewater and his M.S. from UVA. He also lives on "The Post."

This lively young Social Studies teacher and 11th grade counselor has two main hobbies—a girl friend and cars. This year he found time from issuing absentee passes, to coach the senior play. All in all—he's a busy Bridgewater graduate and WMHS alumnus.

MR. C. FRANKLIN DRUMHELLER

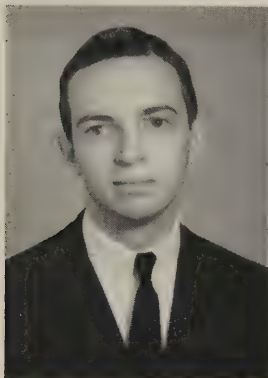

MR. NORMAN L. DULANEY

When Mr. Dulaney isn't busy teaching Science or leading the Pep Club activities, he is acting as father and companion to his young son. Sorry—last year we insisted this young son was a daughter. Salem College awarded him his degree.

Miss Dutton, F.H.A. sponsor, spends her leisure time reading and cooking. She is also doing graduate work which takes up quite a bit of her time. She is one of the friendliest and most fun-loving teachers on our faculty.

MISS PAULINE DUTTON

MR. JAMES T. DUTTON

This new, young and quiet English teacher graduated from UVA. with honors and received his M.A. from Harvard University. Last summer he roamed the countryside of the British Isles and this delightful experience has made his English literature come alive in his classes.

Collecting coins and traveling are the hobbies of this lady who teaches English 8 and 9. She lives in Waynesboro and is a Bridgewater graduate.

MRS. J. GROVER EAST

MISS LILLIAN W. EISENBERG

This dynamic teacher, although she is short in stature, she is long in wit and math knowledge. It has been reported she even likes math problems for dessert. A math wizard and a beloved teacher at Wilson.

A very versatile teacher who is teaching English but who last year taught math is Miss Garland. She has attended Roanoke, Madison and Radford Colleges, as well as UVA.

MISS HAZEL W. GARLAND

MR. LARRY V. GOCHENOUR

Mr. Gochenour teaches Typing I all day long but in his out of school hours he works at Leggett's in Waynesboro . . . full day's work for anyone!

Infirmary caretaker and Practical Nursing instructor—that is for Miss Gregory, a WMHS graduate, who received her B.S. from the Medical College of Virginia. A pretty and efficient nurse!

MISS GLORIA L. GREGORY

MR. N. C. GUYNN

Gardening and agriculture are especially interesting to Mr. Guynn—because that is what he teaches. Mr. Guynn attended Emory and Henry College, received his B.S. from VPI and his M.A. from UVA.

An alumnus of East Tennessee State College, UVA. and R.P.I., Mr. Hamilton is now teaching social studies and has taken the job of National Honor Society sponsor. He is interested in Forensics and serves as one of the coaches.

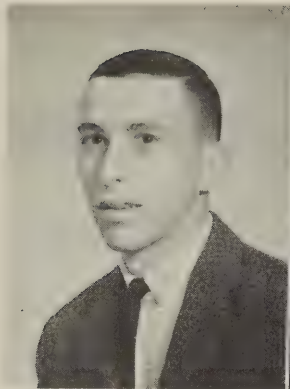

MR. JESSE B. HAMILTON

Good luck to the student in the future!

The 1963-64 Wilson Faculty

MR. C. ALAN HINER

A graduate of VPI, Mr. Hiner in addition to teaching math, coaches JV basketball and baseball. Teaching runs in his family, as his wife is an elementary teacher, but he still finds time for hunting and fishing.

Target shooting and reading are the hobbies of our French and English teacher. Mr. Heatwole is a graduate of Hampden-Sydney College and makes his home in Staunton.

MR. B. G. HEATWOLE

MR. W. A. HILL, JR.

Shenandoah Conservatory claims Mr. Hill as a graduate. He is band director of the high school and elementary schools' bands of the Wilson feeder schools. He is a very busy man but he still finds time to get outdoors and enjoy nature.

MRS. VICTORIA HARRIS

The only lady teacher in the science department is Mrs. Harris. She attended Radford where she received her B.S. and later married a former Wilson graduate.

MISS MARGARET HOLLAND

Ninth grade guidance counselor, Varsity cheerleader coach, English and Spanish teacher all fit Miss Holland. Good music, sports and . . . well, what would you think are the pastime activities of this attractive teacher?

Is she a teacher or student? Young, attractive and efficient describe her. Madison claims her as a graduate but she makes her home in Vesuvius and drives each day to WMHS where she teaches Math 8, 9, and 12.

MISS BETSY L. HUMPHRIES

MISS RAMONA JOHNSON

There is always fun and action as well as studying going on where you find this young "Northerner" who likes being a "Southerner." She serves as 10th grade guidance counselor and teaches English and "Adv. Comp."

This is Mrs. Kessel's first year as Choral Director but we have known her for some time as her daughters have attended school at Wilson. She is a graduate of Shenandoah Conservatory and now divides her time with the high school and Fishersville and Wilson Elementary Schools.

MRS. LAURA KESSEL

MRS. IDA V. LOYD

A newcomer to our midst. Mrs. Loyd a graduate of VPI, teaches Math 8 and 12 but still can find time for her family who like to go camping. Knitting is also a specialty of hers.

Mary Washington College awarded Mrs. Mabry her B.S. degree. Two small children take most of her time but she usually can find time to read. She teaches Senior English and American History and holds down a Senior homeroom.

MRS. VIOLET H. MABRY

MISS M. ANNETA MEEK

This lady librarian is always ready and willing to help in any way she can . . . and always with a smile. She obtained her B.S. from Madison and hopes to get her "Masters" before long.

Grottoes is Mr. Melton's home and he drives to and from Wilson each day to teach Science 8 and 9. Woodworking, electronics equipment and astronomy are all hobbies of his. Mr. Melton is a newcomer and has attended Bridgewater, Madison, and Texas Western.

MR. EDWARD B. MELTON, JR.

No real poet, nice girl - my husband - Mr. Melton

The 1963-64 Wilson Faculty

MR. GEORGE PHILIP MORRIS, JR.

MR. KENNETH E. NEWTON

MR. C. P. OBENSCHAIN

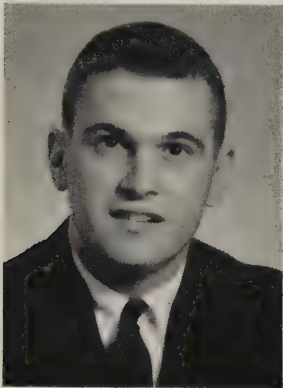

MRS. CLAUDYNE R. PALMER

Ferrum and William and Mary were the schools which Mr. Morris attended. He was a former Wilson student and now lives on the post with his wife and three children. He teaches Physical Education and does part of the coaching.

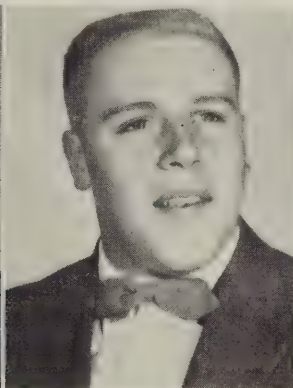

Art comes alive in Mr. Newton's art classes. He is always willing for his students to help in any art project needed and no wonder—they do such a beautiful job. Mr. Newton has his degree from R.P.I. and has attended Longwood and UVA.

Roanoke College claims Mr. Obenschain as a graduate. This year he is teaching Math 8, 9 and Geometry. He is married and lives in the city of Staunton.

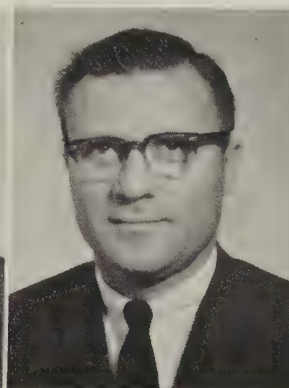

Mrs. Palmer just joined the English department at Wilson this year—and a nice addition she has been. She has her B.S. and M.A. degrees from Madison. Two daughters graduated from Wilson and now we welcome the mother.

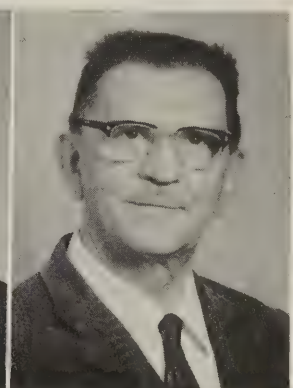

MR. JAMES B. PERSINGER

MR. VINSEN A. POST

MR. JOHN C. RAIFORD

MR. KARL RAPP

Economics and Distributive Education are full time jobs but Mr. Persinger took on another full time job of husband since last year. He is a graduate of V.P.I. but has done graduate work at Madison.

A new bridegroom in January! He is a graduate of Glenville State College in W. Va. This, the first year he has been with us, he is teaching World Geography and Driver Training.

To divert his mind from 6 English classes, Mr. Raiford reads and listens to good music. He was educated at Earlham College, Richmond, Indiana. Don't tell anyone but he is a very eligible bachelor.

This is the first year Mr. Rapp has been with us in the Industrial Arts department. Mr. Rapp was educated at the Institute of Tool, Die & Machine Works in Frankfurt, Germany. We are real glad he decided to join our faculty and hope he will stay.

MR. JESSE D. RIDGEWAY, JR.

MRS. EUNICE T. SHANKS

MRS. JESSIE R. SHOMO

MRS. REBECCA K. SHUMATE

That whistling Chemistry teacher is Mr. Ridgeway, a graduate of Hampden-Sydney College. Old popular records are still popular with him (he sings too). Mr. Ridgeway has been a favorite around these parts for a long time and we hope he will continue to rule over the "Lab."

That pleasant second person in the office is no one else but Mrs. Shanks, who serves as assistant secretary, telephone operator, detention officer, and general office worker, all a very vital part of the school operation.

Mrs. Shomo received both her B.S. and M.A. Degrees from Madison College. She has been teaching Home Ec. for quite some time at Wilson and has been helpful, popular and cooperative in all activities and work. She serves as an 8th and 9th grade counselor for girls.

Carson-Newman and Radford Colleges claim this attractive young homemaker and Home Economics teacher as a graduate. She, her husband and adorable little girl live at Lyndhurst.

The 1963-64 Wilson Faculty

*The best of everything should be yours. I enjoyed having you in class.
Mrs. Taylor*

MRS. HAZEL S. SPITZER

A graduate of U. of Maryland, Mrs. Spitzer is teaching English 9 and 11 for the first year here, having transferred from New Hope Elementary School. She is a whiz at sewing and knitting. Stay a while, please!

MR. JACK STALAKER,

Glenville State College claims Mr. Stalaker as an alumnus. He is in his second year here as football and track coach and Physical Education teacher. Another newly married man.

MR. GERALD W. STUMP

Another Wilson graduate who came back home to work and we are glad. He is a graduate of Bridgewater College and will get his M. A. this summer from Uva. Little cars and a particularly lovely little girl are his hobbies.

MRS. IRIS W. TAYLOR

A popular Physical Ed. teacher who finds time to referee, go to school and cook for her Waynesboro policeman husband. Uva. claims her as a student.

MRS. LEOLA B. THOMAS

Unspoken Latin comes to life in Mrs. Thomas' Latin classes. Latin III is a new adventure for her and her students this year—we hope it will continue. She is a graduate of Mary Baldwin and has attended Scaritt and George Peabody Colleges in Nashville, Tenn. A kind and gentle person we hope to see again next year.

MR. ROBERT L. WENGER

Bridgewater trained this real fine young man and sent him back to us so he could teach General Business and Bookkeeping. Ever willing and ever well-liked.

MRS. SUE WIGGINS

Mrs. Wiggins is right at home in her "Jeep" coming from Staunton to Wilson each day. Typing and Shorthand, which she learned at Madison, are the classes she teaches here. Attractive and quiet she can turn out the typists.

MR. PAUL J. WRIGHT

Mt. Crawford is home to Mr. Wright but he is a graduate of Bridgewater College. He has also done graduate work at Madison. He is in the Industrial Arts department and is really fond of young boys and their problems.

MRS. NORMA STONE

Mrs. Stone, came to our math department at the end of the first six weeks from Fredericksburg. We have learned in a short time to respect her ability, enjoy her wit and share her love of math.

THE REAL HUBS OF THE WORLD AT WILSON

Miss Diehl and Mrs. Shanks, the school secretaries, are always pleasant, efficient and accurate. Without them teachers and students alike would be lost.

Candid Camera Was Never Like This!

The Sadie Hawkins Dance brought forth this array of teachers . . . . Mr. Stump, Mr. Berry, Mr. Drumheller and Mr. Dulaney.

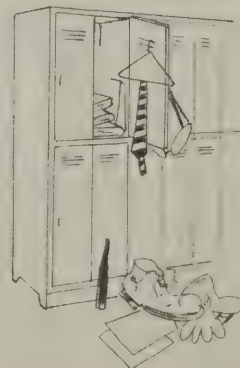

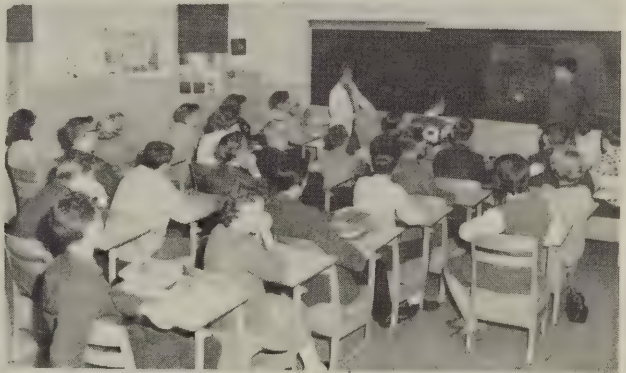

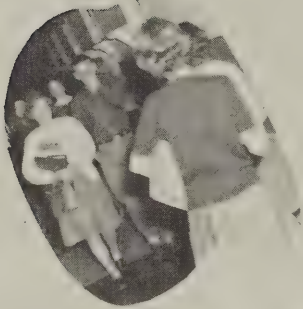

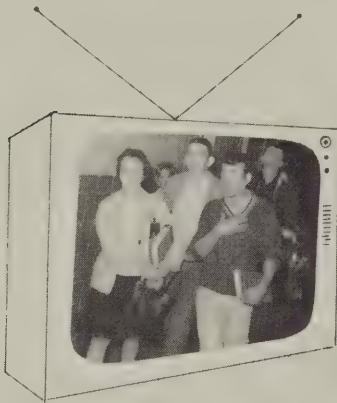

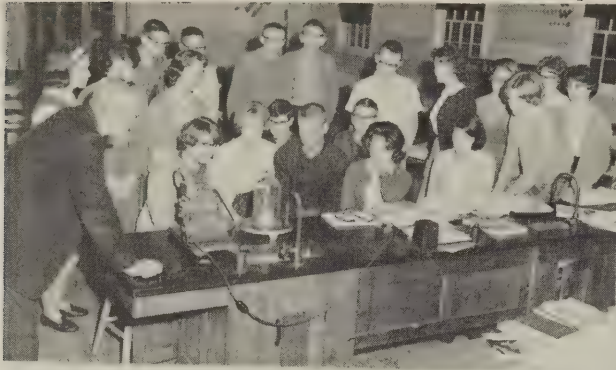

We could say a lot but we'll just say "It's Joe Kyle".

Basketball has really been exciting this year with so many close scores.

Some of the things we will never forget!

Our first day at Wilson. (How big and frightening it looked!)

First 6 weeks report cards (it seemed like A's and B's had been removed from the alphabet). Then what about those awful exams! My aching back!

The Christmas parties. (Too much to eat!)

Homeroom and Class elections. (Campaigning was fun. Too many leaders to choose from.)

Making new friends. (We didn't realize there were so many nice people in other schools.)

The National Honor Society was organized in the fall of this school year as a replacement for the National Beta Club.

Membership in the National Honor Society has become recognized as one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a high school student. Membership is, however, more than an honor; it carries with it a responsibility and should be considered the beginning of an obligation, not merely the successful culmination of an effort to achieve recognition and honor.

The Wilson Pep Club

OUR OFFICERS

President .....	Bobby Thompson
Vice-President .....	Darl McDorman
Secretary .....	Jo Brenda Harlow
Treasurer .....	Robbie Driver
Faculty Sponsor .....	Mr. Dulaney

The purpose of the Pep Club is to support and promote school spirit in all the athletic functions at Wilson. The Pep Club feels that Wilson is a fine school, of which we can be justly proud, and strives to create that feeling throughout the whole student body. This is achieved through pep rallies, posters, dances, cheerleading, and genuine enthusiasm of the Pep Club members.

The Pep Club this year has promoted much school spirit throughout the entire school. During the football season the Club held several pep rallies and at the close of the season the Club sponsored a dance honoring the team members.

During basketball season, a drive was started to improve the sportsmanship and general attitude of both players and spectators.

Near the close of school and after the regular sport season the Pep Club sponsored a big dance to honor all students who had participated in any way in advancing the sports program during the year.

The F.F.A. is an intra-curricular activity having its origin and root in a definite part of the school curriculum, vocational agriculture. Among other things, members learn through active participation how to conduct and take part in a public meeting; to speak in public; to buy and sell cooperatively; to solve their own problems; to finance themselves; and to assume civic responsibility.

Winners in the annual F.F.A. Public Speaking Contest were:

- First place—Stephen Geiman
- Second place—Ralph Mowry
- Third place—Michael Boggs
- Fourth place—Andy Correll

The purpose of this organization is to instill in the hearts of young farm boys a desire to perform more efficient agricultural practices, to contribute to the betterment of a local community and to live a more satisfying farm home life.

Who Said Activities Were Not Important?

WE DIDN'T!

Boys, look upon these future wives serving their first luncheon. Aren't you glad you aren't the victims? Looks pretty, though, doesn't it?

"Sleepy" Powell and the rest of the basketball team and Coach Cleveland go to the movies. We're really proud of our athletic program! Athletic contests are so much more fun than classes.

All these girls to make one little bowl of jello? How could you ever have a steak fry?

Christmas in Geometryland! Do you remember how much fun we had trimming this tree? All work and no play would make us dull.

Connie Bradley and Jimmy Moyer were declared the winners at the F.H.A. Sadie Hawkins Dance last fall. Remember some of the "beautiful" corsages?

Darl McDorman and his cast are the center of attraction at the Football-Cheerleaders banquet at West Inn. This event was one of the nicest activities the students have ever had . . . thanks to the athletic department.

"Old 47"

It all started in a suburban section of sprawling New York City, on a cold and icy day in late January. Mr. Harold Andrews, a book-keeper for a large banking firm in downtown New York, was waiting for the modern diesel train which would take him to work. For the past twenty-seven years he had been at this same spot, each morning, at this exact time, waiting to go to the same dull job, and hating every moment of it.

"It was not always like this," he would say. "Once there was no nagging invalid wife."

Those were the days when he had worked for the old Norfolk and Western. Yes, those were the happy days.

"I was fireman for old number 47, in those days," he would say. "No better train on the whole run than old 47. Why, we carried cattle all over the West. I can hear them yet. Those were the days."

This, however, was the last day of waiting for Mr. Harold Andrews. Today, he was to be retired by a grateful firm, at half his salary, for the rest of his life. "He deserves a rest," said a smiling bank president, "for twenty-seven years of faithful service. Yes, now he could spend all day with Martha. It would be pleasant to hear how she could have married a successful man, if only he had not come along, 27 years ago. He was depressed as he thought of his days of retirement."

There are those New Yorkers who say they do think that maybe, just a few moments before their Diesel came, a small, grey, timeworn train did come puffing by. There are even those who think that maybe they did hear the bawling of cattle. One man declared he saw the number, 47, and that in the one moment the train paused, a meek little man in a grey suit, who had been patiently standing by him, briskly stepped aboard. Really though, they had not paid too much attention.

It wasn't their train.

River Bank At Low Tide

The Beauty of the river's bank at low tide will sweep your breath away! The fishy smell does not annoy one as the tangy salt breeze skims across the sparkling, blue water. The forlorn cry of a lone sea gull echoes between the whitecaps and a swaying wall of pines. He spirals slowly down from the heavens only to have to climb laboriously again to the heights that he has claimed as his own. The occasional splash of a fish sends him down like a rock from his tower of splendor. As the sun begins to fade, the waters begin to claim the shore once more. Finally, only the shadow of a gull can be seen against the splendor of a glowing sunset.

Night

Into day steals the night
As the world is darkened.
Through the pitch black sky
The stars are glowing like sparks in a fire.
The moon is bright and clear as it
journeys through the sky,
To the end of its journey to make way for the sun.

A Barn Yard

One of the most intriguing and peaceful places I know is my father's barnyard. With the old weather-beaten and shabby barn behind, the rich green meadows in front and the high towering grandeur of the hills all around, I get a feeling of peacefulness and warmth.

Sitting next to the barn with my head resting on an old door I can see off in the distance, the various sizes, shapes and colors of the ponies and cows grazing contentedly. Occasionally faint far off sounds of a cow calling her stray calf or the whinny of a mother pony checking to see that her colt hasn't gone too far astray, come to my ear.

Above my head on the gleaming tin roof of the barn, I can hear pigeons scratching the tin in their rush to reach the crest of the roof.

In my mood of bliss and dreaminess, I can imagine the feel of my hand petting the soft cuddly fur of a pony or touching the rough jagged wood of the old and rotting barn. The healthy feel of grain as it slips through my fingers and the fresh clean feel of grass between my toes gives me a sense of security.

As I sit on the somewhat uncomfortable rock, I can smell the fragrance of the fresh, newly-cut hay mingled in with the mildewed odor of the old or the smell of fresh air with the pungent odor of barnyard drifts.

A Child Is Born

It was a few days until Christmas and Tommy hadn't seen Santa Claus yet. He knew what he wanted, but he knew that it wouldn't be official until he made the trip to town to tell the jolly old man. He knew that he had four more days to tell Santa and planned to go into town the very next day.

Tommy's mother was going to have a baby at any time and he wanted to have a baby brother. "If mother could have a boy like the baby Jesus," he thought as he was coming home from school. He always hurried home to see if his mother had gone to the hospital during the day. As he opened the door on that Friday before Christmas he knew that his mother was not there.

He went from room to room to see if he could find her, but everywhere he went he found the silent walls.

He went to the neighbor's house and returned when he saw his Father arrive. Tommy walked into the house and sensed that something was wrong. His father told him that his mother had gone to the hospital during the day, but she had not had the baby yet. Tommy's father went back to the hospital that night. His father had not returned when he was ready to go to bed. When he was dressed for bed he got down on his knees to say his prayers.

"Dear God, please let mother have a little boy. This would be the only Christmas present that I would want. But if it is a girl, I reckon that I would be happy. God, bless Mom and Dad and everyone else in the world. And dear God, let me get into town to tell Santa what I want for Christmas. Because if Santa and you both know what I want, I will be able to get it. Thank you God for everything that we have. Amen."

He jumped in bed and went fast asleep. The next morning he heard his father calling him to come down to breakfast. He got dressed and ran down the steps.

"Did mother have her baby last night?" he asked as he was rounding the small kitchen table.

"No," his father said rather slowly. "The doctor said that it might be three more days before the baby comes, and that she had better stay in the hospital until it does arrive."

Tommy slowly ate his breakfast and asked his dad if he was going to town that morning. His father said that he was and he could go with him. Tommy figured that this would be the best time to ask Santa for the special gift. He went into the big department store and asked the sales lady the direction to Santa Claus. She told him to go to the third floor. When he got to the third floor, he saw a line of children. He knew that they must be waiting to see Santa Claus.

He got in the line and waited his turn. When he finally got to see Santa, he told him what he wanted. Santa was surprised at the request of the small boy. But he told Tommy he would see what could be done.

The next day Tommy went to church as usual. They were having their Christmas program. Tommy was to play the part of one of the wise men. He was very sad because his mother was not there to see him. The program was very beautiful, he thought as he was walking out of the church with his father. He was thinking that there were only two more days until Christmas.

Christmas Eve seemed to go by very slow. He was playing with the boy down the road when his father came home. Tommy ran to see if they were going to put the tree up. His father took him in the woods and they found a beautiful pine tree. They put it in the living room and put some lights on it.

After supper Tommy decided to go to bed. His father told him that aunt Marge was coming over to spend the night while he went to the hospital. Tommy did not hear Marge when she arrived because he was already asleep.

The next morning he awoke to find a small skiff of snow outside his window. He dressed quickly and ran downstairs. When he got to the bottom he saw his father. He could tell that something was wrong.

"Tommy, you have a baby brother," his father said.

"When is mother going to come home with the baby?" he said with a large grin on his face.

"Mother died last night after the baby was born. Just before she died she told me to let you name your brother," he said in a choking voice.

Tommy had tears in his eyes and said, "I will call him Noel because he was born on Christmas."

The Unwelcome Stranger

Stop! Please wait. Can't you see the torment, the excruciating pain, the merciless remnants left.
Heartache, tears, and sleeplessness,
are the stigmas of your presence.
Oh why did you come when all was well!

O can't you realize that pride is such a foolish folly; so much we stand to lose and nothing to gain, when "The pride of our own heart hath deceived us."
Oh why did you come when all was well

Go quickly now or the "Love of many shall wax cold" But! think you not that "love is strong as death" and will claim victory over all? Nay, who can tell when "one hath left their first love." Tarry not, but go, for all now is well.

Escape

Summer eases in on the coat-tail of spring
The grass is a plush green carpet
The trees hang over the water making a secluded spot
The river rushing on to no one knows where
The sun dances through the trees hitting the ground and water in little spotlights
The birds sing merrily, and the trees and ground are alive with small creatures
The trees are dressed in summer green
The skies are blue, with cotton candy clouds
Away from the civilized world, here is happiness
This is my escape
Winter storms come with cold winds and white snows
The trees are bare, except for abandoned squirrel nests and long icicles
The birds have been stilled and the small creatures sleep
The grass is hidden under a carpet of snow
It looks like a winter wonder land
There is ice around the river which struggles to hurry on
It looks green, cold and angry now
Something is wrong
The animals and birds seem to sense it
There is an unusual worried silence here
Is there worry here? Away from the civilized world
They're putting a super highway through my escape

Unknown? Eternal?

She's alone. The universe surrounds her.
Her arms are outstretched, hands open and face upturned in earnest want. I cannot grasp the sincere persistence of her expression.
Only red, along with this atmosphere of deep searching . . . for what . . . forgiveness?
Her beauty is complete. Her body, in flawless perfection, stands erect and proud, but reflects only meekness.
Her dress is as sheer as the translucent rays of the king of the universe.
I can feel only compassion for this image of myself.
The forks of pandemonium pierce the purest of skin. The brilliant, true red causes glassy sparks of her eyes to glisten.
My compassion for this image of sin heightens with the increasing of degrees.
Here one has no conception of time. The minute seems to be much longer.
The time of judgement draws near. My heart leads.
I see now the once somber and earnest face beginning to turn to relief and softness replaces the solid and cold. The red is fading just slightly, but now faster. The hue replacing the bold is divine and heavenly.
Acquired now . . . the eternal? . . . the unknown?
Does one really know

“Life’s Ambition”

The spring of his life had long since passed. The days of endless fighting with the other pit bull dogs are gone. He never feared and because of this he stands like a true king, a remnant of his glorious days in the pit.

When he became too feeble to keep up with the younger dogs, an old man bought him for a pet. He was taken back into the mountains to an old shack to spend the rest of his days.

Winters are hard on the old dog, but with spring he revives for this is a time of nothing but flowers and sunshine. This is a wonderful time of year and it brings to memory his wonderful days of youth, when his blood ran warm, quick and alive. The morning typified spring with a heavenness scent. The sun had just come up and everything was awake and fresh.

In the front yard the old dog moved restlessly then sat and gazed all around. Looking into the flowers they turned as blood bringing back to memory the pit and his youth. Here his memory would be his guide and though his body was old, his heart was still bold and youthful.

He loved the old man who had taken such good care of him. This was a wonderful home among the silent hills but, this was not enough. The past would still echo into the present stirring restlessness and discomfort. Having his will to fight the old dog disappeared into the dark woods below, to have his life’s ambition, even though death was nearer than ever.

Saved By the Bell

Ann Carter’s hands began shaking, knees knocking, and heart pounding as Miss Lewis pulled the small green book from her desk drawer. Ann knew what that particular book meant and how she dreaded what was coming! Would Miss Lewis call on her in Spanish and require her to answer? How she hoped, “No!”

Miss Lewis began, — Senorita Miller, como esta usted? Baffled Carol Miller mumbled a few words but they were incorrect so Miss Lewis called on another student, and another. All the time Ann was getting more nervous because she could never understand Spanish when Miss Lewis spoke it. Oh, it wasn’t Miss Lewis’ fault. She spoke it very well — and fast. Too fast! Ann turned her eyes frequently to the clock on the wall, hoping that the bell would ring.

When Ann noticed that it was almost time for the bell, she became a little more relaxed. “Well, I guess she won’t call on me today,” she thought. But Ann’s heart jumped to her throat when she heard Miss Lewis say, — Senorita Carter, que hora es? Ann was dumbfounded. What did that mean?” She opened her mouth to make a feeble attempt, but just then the bell rang. “What a relief!” sighed Ann. “Saved by the bell!”

The End

The picture hung all alone in the long, deserted hall. Its gilded frame, once bright and new, was tarnished and covered with dust. Behind the glass was a scene which seemed almost real. It was a small black dog posing in front of an array of blue and white flowers. No one realized its entire beauty as fully as the talented old artist who had studied the scene, day after day, first in the morning, again in the afternoon, and a third time in the evening.

The little dog, its owner unknown, always seemed to know exactly when to be there. He was the perfect model, never becoming mischievous, but fitting perfectly in with the background.

One day, the dog appeared early as usual, ready to pose. After several hours of silently waiting, the artist still hadn't come. The little black figure walked slowly away, puzzled. Had the picture been completed; had the old man given up; would it ever be finished? The sad little puppy would never know.

Duty

There has never been one great man who has not failed in one particular thing. If we, as mortals, abandon our ideas at the threshold of failure, what is to become of our inhabitation, and of our souls? The realization of failure is the beginning of intelligence; the will to conquer it is human strength, and the ability to overcome it is the ultimate.

Poor indeed is the man who has not searched his soul for the basic phenomena that it possesses; poor is the man who has not questioned the existence of his God, nor the extent of his morality, nor his accomplishments. Rich is the man who has done these things; for his life is sustained in reality, and not by measures of inanimate perplexities. To carry life without purpose is an inability of duty. Duty is the sole existence of the world. To see it, and do nothing, is a most disastrous thing for man, as well as an offense against God.

Spring of '64

The day is dark, and damp, and grey,
Not even the children want to play.
The birds in the trees are too sad to sing;
This is the last day the school-bell will ring.

Another semester has come and gone,
And today will be over before too long.
So now, good-bye to all my friends—
I will see you once more when summer ends.
And as I leave, I will shed a tear—
This is the end of our school year.

My Little Sister

My mother used to say my little sister was something special. You see, she was born on Christmas Eve. I was only five years old at the time, but I was overjoyed with the thought of having a baby sister.

Christmas from then on was more to me than Santa Claus, it was the time to celebrate her birthday.

I especially remember her third birthday. This particular Christmas we took her to see Santa Claus, they even had their pictures taken together. I remember the excited and happy look on her face.

On Christmas Eve that year we didn't celebrate her birthday. My Grandfather and Grandmother were coming to see us Christmas day, so mother had planned a big birthday dinner, with turkey and all the trimmings.

After hanging her first stocking by the fire, we went happily to bed. On Christmas morning I awoke early and crept into my sister's room, she was still asleep so I went downstairs alone to see what Santa had left. Soon, my mother and father awoke and went to get my little sister up.

Grandfather and Grandmother came that day, but we didn't have the birthday dinner. In fact, this was a sad Christmas for all of us. I didn't open any of my presents and neither did my sister. You see, she died in her sleep that Christmas Eve.

I have other brothers and sisters now, but every Christmas we have a spot in our hearts for the one who isn't here. And, on Christmas morning when we open our presents we can't help but think of the presents in my sister's room that she never opened.

Nightlife in the Forest

The moonlight waltzed across the snow covered ground, causing a blue haze to mingle with the tiny white crystals falling through the tops of the trees. I could hear the creek rushing to its' unknown destination and the night animals whispering in their mysterious night voices. As a nine year old boy I wasn't afraid of the forest. I had always loved the forest and all the mysterious things in it. I saw a tiny black shadow moving across the crusted snow. As I watched this moving form, I saw it was only a tiny skunk. No need to fear.

I had hiked into the mountains to observe nature. As a tiny object drifted into the clearing resembling a wind blown leaf, a noise cracked the silence. Suddenly, a feathery mass came hurdling downward and grabbed the leafy object which must have been a mouse and the mass must have been an owl for its' eyes shone like the fires of hell. This shows the law of survival in the woods and maybe in life. The owl got its' meal and the mouse lost its' life. The owl was frightened into flight by a soft looking little doe as she came tiptoeing into the clearing. When she got to the middle of the clearing, a majestically galant looking buck pranced out, throwing a cascade of snow from his hoofs. He picked a small gnarled little tree to rub his antlers against to shed the velvet from them. Then a noise came booming from the forest. It was a shot. The doe dropped to the velvety snow; the buck started to bolt away, but another shot pierced the night air and he also fell to the ground. The night poacher appeared and hauled them off. My spying was over, but the moonlight still danced across the snow, now stained with two brilliant red spots on the petal whiteness of the snow.

Yesterday and today stood back to back like two rampart lions. Yesterday the poacher had choked the clearing of its' life. Today, the snow and blood, soon both will be gone, like the little doe and her mate.

Her Last Christmas

She looked at her calendar again. Two more days 'til Christmas, she thought. Her long slender fingers, crooked with arthritis worked skillfully on the sweater she was knitting for her husband.

"I must get this done before Henry comes home," she said aloud to herself.

She looked at the grandfather clock standing in a corner of the room and thought of what Henry was probably doing now. She had gone with him many times and knew his approximate vicinity.

Henry Young was a circuit preacher and was usually gone for one or two weeks at a time. He spent a lot of time visiting because he had a great concern for his "sheep".

Since the snow last night, Mrs. Young had him on her mind almost continually. Hope those tires last out. Hope he doesn't slip in the snow and break his leg like three years ago, what a time, poor man, he suffered so, she thought.

She walked to the window to rest her eyes from knitting. As she watched the grandchildren playing in the snow next door, she caught glimpses of herself as a child doing the same. A ray of sunlight caught her gray hair through the window.

That afternoon Martha, who lived next door, came to help her mother get the tree and decorate the house. Mrs. Young knew exactly what tree she wanted, for she and Henry had gone on many walks through the woods together. Reverend Young had said many times how beautiful and graceful the tree was.

Martha, with the feeble help of Mrs. Young, brought the snow covered tree on the porch and shook the limbs free of the clinging snow.

Mrs. Young and her daughter decorated the tree with fancy and colorful ornaments, which Mr. Young had carved from wood.

The final light and tinsel were put in place. Martha's four year old, Glenda, squealed with delight and danced around it.

"Won't Henry be pleased!" said Mrs. Young excitedly.

"I know he will, you know how proud he is of those carved ornaments!" Martha said laughingly, and started cleaning up around the tree.

Mrs. Young took up her knitting again beside the stove while Martha finished decorating the house.

"Have you heard anything from Dad? When is he coming?" asked Martha.

"His letter yesterday said he would probably be home between 4 or 5 P.M.—Christmas Eve. And you know—he's bringing one of those fat turkey's home from the Hudson Turkey Farm for Christmas dinner," she replied, always glad for her husband's return.

Late that evening Mrs. Young finished the sweater. After carefully wrapping it she proudly placed it under the tree.

Martha and her mother worked hard the next morning, cleaning house and making Christmas dinner preparations.

True to his word, at 4:15 the old Young car chugged to a stop in front of the four room house. The two spent Christmas Eve alone reading the Christmas story from the Bible and exchanging events and happenings.

Early Christmas morning Mr. Young jumped out of bed, glad to be home. With a gay shout, he said, "Good morning and Merry Christmas, my dear! He bent over and kissed her and repeated, "Merry Christmas."

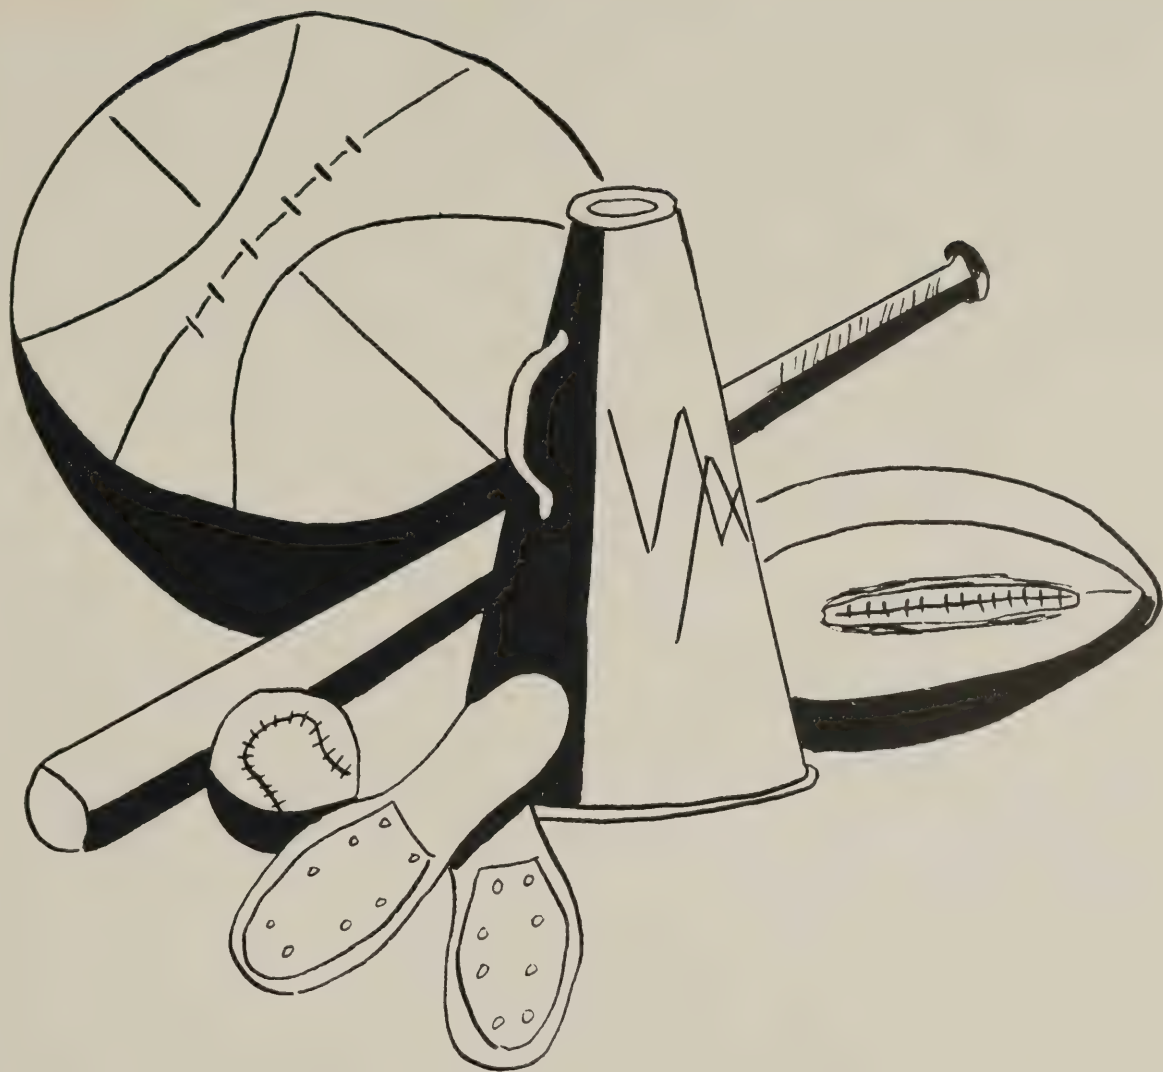

There was no answer. Mrs. Young was asleep forever.

To Mr. Young the early morning sun seemed to go behind the clouds. He broke the sad news to Martha over the telephone. Christmas dinner for the Youngs was never the same.

NEW GIRLS' BASKETBALL SET-UP

This year our girls' interscholastic basketball program, which had been a part of the school program since the formation of the school in 1947, was discontinued in compliance with the Augusta County School Board regulation.

The interscholastic girls' basketball program has been replaced with an intramural program in which more girls can participate. There are a number of girls who have the desire to play basketball but lack the necessary skills to play on the school's varsity or junior varsity. The intramural program does give these girls a chance to play basketball.

Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Brooker and some of the former varsity girls have been coaching and officiating in the intramural program.

Appreciation is expressed to Mrs. Taylor who coached the girls' varsity and junior varsity teams for a number of years and who has been very helpful in organizing the intramural program.
